GENERAL INFORMATION
In the Literature Journal of Pharmacy Sciences, scientific articles of a “compilation” type that are prepared by informed authors on a specific field by taking advantage of the current literature are evaluated.

The works where the authors are invited by the editor are evaluated in the category of “invited compilation”.

It is essential that the articles submitted for publication not to be published elsewhere or having been sent for publication before. If the article includes previously published citations, tables, pictures, etc., the article writer must obtain written permission from the owner of the publication rights and the authors and specify this in the article. The abstracts presented in scientific meetings generated from doctorate thesis are accepted provided that this is stated in the article.

If the article submitted to the journal is in conformity with the format guidelines, it is published after it has been reviewed by the editor and at least two local/abroad consultants and if necessary after the changes requested are made by the authors. After the article has been processed, the author names and the order specified in the publication rights transfer form will be taken as the basis. After this stage:

- The author name cannot be added and the author order cannot be changed except for the ones whose signatures are on the transfer rights transfer form at any stage.

The magazine observes that the articles it publishes have the highest ethical and scientific standards on the subject and are not subject to commercial concerns.

The editor and publisher undertake and accept no responsibility for the properties and disclosures of commercial products for advertising purposes.

RULES OF PUBLICATION

SCIENTIFIC RESPONSIBILITY
All authors should have a direct academic-scientific contribution to the submitted article. The name designated as the author must have all of the following characteristics:

- Should plan or do the study stated in the article,
- Should write or revise the article,
- Should accept the final form of the article.

The authors will be responsible for the compliance of the articles with scientific rules.

ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITY
If there is a direct-indirect commercial link to the article or if there is an entity that provides financial support for the study, it should be stated that there is no relation with the commercial product and the drug used, the company and if there is such relation, the attribute of the relation (consultant, other agreements) should be notified to the editor on the presentation page.

- The authors will be responsible for the compliance of the articles with ethical rules.

EVALUATION IN TERMS OF WRITING LANGUAGE
The publication language of the journal is in Turkish and English.

Turkish Dictionary of the Turkish Language Institution or the website address www.tdk.gov.tr should be taken as the basis for Turkish articles.

English articles and abstracts in English should be evaluated by the language expert before submission to the journal and the expert approval should be specifically indicated on the presentation page to the editor. If the person evaluating the article in terms of English is not one of the authors, the name of this person should be stated in the “ACKNOWLEDGMENT” section at the end of the article.

Furthermore, spelling and grammar mistakes in the submitted articles can be corrected by our editorial committee without touching the contents of the article.

- The authors will be responsible for the compliance of the articles with spelling and grammar rules.

PUBLICATION RIGHT
As per the Copyright Act dated 1976, the publication rights of all all articles accepted for publication belong to the institution publishing the journal. The thoughts and suggestions in the articles are entirely under the responsibility of the authors. No fees are paid to article authors in consideration for their articles.

The authors should fill in the “Publication Rights Transfer Form” that is accessible at the address www.turkiyeklinikleri.com/yayin_haklari.pdf and should send it in online form along with the article at the section under the part “Online Article Transactions?” button under the website www.turkiyeklinikleri.com
